Amended Charter

We the People of the United States of America, being the heirs and successor governors of these lands under God to the original Indian nations and to the Protestant kings and queens of England, are endowed with the inalienable rights of a free and sovereign nation. With affinity for the purposes and accomplishments of the Honorable George Clinton, Thomas Jefferson and John Taylor of Caroline, this Corporation does assume the mantle of, and will also be known as, The Democratic-Republican Party.

I. COVENANTS

All members swear to:

Hold these covenants as higher law and an inviolable contract, accepting membership according to their terms;

Respect the lawful right of other members to dignity, privacy and to peaceable assembly without spying or alienation, and to quietly surrender membership upon a vote of exclusion for breach thereof as more fully set forth in Section V (below).

Fulfill all duties and responsibilities undertaken.

Stand for the rule of law, justice, peace and ecological restoration.

Speak only truth while giving love indifferently and opposing contempt for the rights, liberties and Commonwealth of all people or peoples now or ever cognizable under our system of English law.

Practice and espouse active participation and non-violence.

II. PRINCIPLES

The RDP/Democratic-Republican Party holds that:

Republican government is by the People according to constitutions and laws, and not by banks, corporations, posers or monarchy;

Democratic government is of the People with government closest to the People being best;

The RDP/Democratic-Republican Party shall establish strength in state government to assert state sovereignty as a balance to federal power;

All sovereign or prerogative powers not granted to the federal union by the original thirteen independent and sovereign states are reserved to the states or to the People.

Federal currency and taxation must be lawful;

The Bill of Rights amending the Constitution of the United States having been expressly ratified to restrain unintended federal power, all amendments made after the Civil War must be reviewed for possible repeal;

The most fundamental liberty to make our own laws shall not be impinged or surrendered;

Idolatry of Presidents, Popes, Prophets or deities is a crime against God and a threat to the republic;

Constitutional democracy is a contract with all governmental assets of any type or nature being the Commonwealth of the People;

Social security being established by a Federal Insurance Corporation Act (FICA), its funds are non-discretionary to Congress and all funds taken for other purposes must be restored;

The National Guard being the states' militia, must be under the exclusive command of the Governors with foreign adventures only upon their public order;

Military pensions and veterans' benefits must be fully funded and non-political;

Non-citizen soldiers, standing armies, mercenary forces, military tribunals and unaccountable military industrial and intelligence complexes should be abolished;

The exploitation of labor, natural resources and technology being necessary for human sustenance, unions and a living wage, environmental restoration and protections of health and safety are essential;

Victimless crimes and pretexts of war for taking greater authority are to be resisted;

The sanctity of the obligations of contracts, the equal rights and treatment of all persons before the law, and the freedom of conscience in a secular state are essential to our liberty;

All voting in contested partisan elections should be open and published for public inspection with the option provided for privacy;

Acts made or actions taken by governmental bodies without or in excess of their Constitutionally delegated powers to reconstitute government or to extend powers into the states, or over the People, are opposed;

Should the general government of the United States of America continue to operate outside of the powers delegated to it by the federalist Constitution thereof, and the People are strong within their states, a constitutional convention of the states should be convened for the re-constituting of said government, with the Bill of Rights to be considered first and not in any way diminished.

V. RULES

In order to protect the members' rights to peaceably assemble for political purposes, a vote may be had upon a motion, properly seconded, for exclusion of a caucus participant for covenant violations, with a written appeal reserved to the LDA or, failing in such an appeal, to the state courts for review by certiorari if brought within thirty (30) days.

RDP processes may be used to endorse candidates of any political party, with candidates standing for the RDP/Democratic Republican Party principles and voted by a majority vote of a caucus assembled to have preferential consideration.

This Amended Charter shall serve until next amended by resolution of the membership initiated at a caucus assembled and approved by a majority vote of a majority of caucuses represented in majority of Legislative District Assemblies assembled in State Convention.
